George Humley, an old colored man, was n the Police Court this morning, charged with assault. The complainant was a white woman by the name of Mary Lovett, and according to the story the occurrence took place near the corner of 4th and Pomeroy street last Saturday evening. The evidence showed that Sarah used to live for years with a colored man and still hangs around an alley where only colored people live.

Simon Brown, colored, testified that the man's reputation was far better than the woman's, and that when he saw Mary Saturday evening she was very drunk, as she usually is.

Mr. John M. Langston defended Humley, who, he said, is his neighbor and friend, and a thoroughly respectable citizen. The case occupied the attention of the court for a considerable length of time. It finally be-

A New Italian Stamp. From the Westminster Gazette.

The Italian government is about to follow the example of other states, and to mark the national festival of the entry of the Italians into Rome by the issue of a new "historical postage stamp." A million copies will be ready for sale on the twentyfifth anniversary of the liberation of Rome in 1870. The design of the new stamp, which was intrusted to Prof. Sezanne, is very elaborate, and somewhat overcrowded for its size. In the upper half of the picture sits the figure of Italy, with the iron crown upon her head, she holds the scepter n her right hand, and in her left the armorial shield of the house of Savoy. On armorial shield of the house of Savoy. On the two steps of her throne are two inscriptions, the first of which originated with King Victor Emanuel, and the second with the present King Umberto: (1) 'In Rome we are, and in Rome we mean to stay;" (2) "Rome is intangible." In other sections of the postage stamp are crowded a number of symbols—the shewolf of ancient Rome, the eagle of Savoy profiles of the two modern kings of voy, profiles of the two modern kings of United Italy, the Italian crown, and the inscription "Postal stamp in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the liberation of Rome," and the two dates, 1870 and 1895. profiles of the two modern kings of Holding the Breath.

From Tid-Bits. It is a physical impossibility for a man to kill himself by holding his breath. Individuals differ greatly in the length of time they can hold their breath, and what practice and determined effort, combined with natural great lung capacity, can do in this direction is shown by the long periods or which champion divers can remain under water. If a man succeeded in continu-ing to hold his breath, in spite of the physing to flow mis bleath, in spice of the physical discomfort in which he had placed himself, the result would simply be to induce a state of coma. When this state was reached nature would reassert herself, and the breathing functions would again re-

Services to Be Held in All the Catholic Churches Next Friday.

Instructions Issued by Cardinal Gibbons to the Clergy of This

Besides the celebration by Italians in this city on the 20th instant of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the andexation of the Roman provinces to the kingdom of Italy, or, as it is better known; of Italian unity, there will also be observances in the Catholic churches of the event, though from a different standpoint. Perhaps, without a single exception, the members of the Italian dolony in this city are identified with the Catholic Church, and it is they who will celebrate the unity of the Italian nation. Not only that, but most likely the majority will take part in the morning in the services to be held in the churches, praying for the freedom and independence of the pope. Such services will be held quite generally throughout the United States, and in this diocese they will be held without exception. Archbishop Gibbons has issued to the clergy of his diocese the following 'nstructions:

CARDINAL'S RESIDENCE, MORE, Md., September 6, 1895. CARDINAL'S RESIDENCE, BALTIMORE, Md., September 6, 1895.
Dear Reverend Father: Oa September 29
the Italian government will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the annexation of the Roman provinces to the kingdom of Italy.

While public demonstrations are there tion of what had for centuries been papal dominions, the holy see desires that the faithful children of the church throughout the world should unite in praying heaven for the freedom and independence of the pope.

You are therefore requested to publicly You are therefore requested to publicly recite on that date, in your church, at the mass which is most fully attended, the litany of the saints, praying according to the intentions of the sovereign pontiff that Providence soon youchsafe to grant to the church and her visible head the liberty so necessary for the exercise of their Divine mission. Faithfully yours in Christ, J. CARDINAL GIBBONS, Architshop of Relimpres

WM. A. REARDON, Chancellor. WM. A. REARDON, Chancellor.

It is expected that these services will be limited to the ceremonies indicated in Archbishop Gibbons' instructions, although if any of the clergy desire a sermon might be delivered on that day on the subject. When the Italian government took measures to deprive the pope of his temporal power in the states that for so long had been under his rule, the ban of excommanication was propupped against every conbeen under his rule, the ban of excommani-cation was pronounced against every one who directly or indirectly contributed to the loss of his power. But a high authority in the church remarked today to a Star reporter that this ban of excommunication he did not consider applied to those who take part in merely celebrating the anni-versary of this event.

A Stray Carrier Pigeon.

A handsome carrier pigeon alighted in the court of No. 516 10th street northwest (at the house in which Abraham Lincoln died), early this morning. It had evidently been a long distance, as it appeared to be need of rest, displaying but little fear of those who came near. It was of a dark slate color, with regular mottled spots of black on its wings and back, and a halo of beautiful prismatic colors about its of beautiful prismatic colors about its neck. Its wings were large and strong, and its motions active and rather eccentric. It was taken into the house and fed, and on examination, stamped upon no piece of metal, attached to its right leg, was found the following: "M. C. Hat C. T2795." After repeated attempts to gain its liberty through the window, it was allowed to go out in the court, where it is now quietly resting.

The preliminaries for the parade have nearly all been settled and the event is expected to be a memorable one. Hereafter the executive committee will meet Tuesdays at Mr. Chapin Brown's office, No. 323 4½ street rorthwest

THREE DELEGATIONS

Possible Result of the Local Republican Situation.

THE FACTIONS ARE WIDE APART

Gleeson, Carson and the Union Republican Club.

THEN M'KINLEY'S FRIENDS

The Star recently, in discussing the political situation in the District, said that the contest for the selection of delegates to the next national republican convention would have to be decided by the national committee of the republican party. The announcement on the part of the Gleesonites Saturday that they would contest the right of Mr. Aaron Bradshaw to call the convention for the selection of two delegates has made the political situation here more complicated, and The Star's announcement that the national committee will be brought into the fight will prove true. The Gleeson people claim that the major portion of the republicans here are with them, and that the only way they can be defeated will be by snap judgment on the part of the Bradshaw central committee, so they have announced that they will fight down to the last ditch and will will fight down to the last ditch and will then throw themselves upon the national committee, to determine the justice of their cause. They will have some member of the Aldrich central committee, which they claim, is the legal committee, to call the conventions in the several districts, and the Gleesonites will obey this call, select the delegates, hold, a District convention, select two delegates to the national convention and name a new central committee.

tional convention and name a new central committee.

It is said that the Gleeson people will select, as Gleeson's colleague W. H. Smith, who for many years was the assistant librarian in the law library at the Capitol. It is said that Smith will be selected as the contral collection of the contral collection. It is said that Smith will be selected as the colored delegate because he is favorable to the selection of T. B. Raed as the republican candidate for the presidency. All the time that Gleeson went to the national convention he was favorable to the selection of Blaine as the republican candidate, but since Blaine is no more Gleeson has hitched himself to the other "man from Maine" and wants Smith as his colleague on the delegation, because he, too, is a Reed man. The Bradshaw Position.

While the Gleeson people are saying that they will not recognize the Bradshaw call. Bradshaw is pursuing the even tenor of his own way and says that he will call the conventions at the proper time, and will attempt to accord justice to all of the aspirtempt to accord justice to all of the aspir-ants to the national convention. He says that he is confident that if there is a con-test before the national convention, the convention will decide favorably to him, as he claims that it did before. Perry Car-son will join in the call which will be issued by Bradshaw, and he says that the Brad-shaw convention will have in it the dele-gates which will be chosen by a majority of the republicans here.

gates which will be chosen by a majority of the republicans here.

The Tribune of New York, which gives in its yearly almanac the names of the chair-men of the republican party in the different states and territories, records Mr. Brad-shaw as being the chairman of the republi-can party of the District of Columbia. In the absence of Frenk Aldrich, who the can party of the District of Columbia.

In the absence of Frank Aldrich, who the anti-Carson-Bradshaw people claim is the chairman, it is said that they will have A. H. S. Davis, who called the conventions four years ago, to call the anti-Carson convention again this year. Editor W. Calvin Chese chaims also that Mr. Bradshaw has no more authority than he has to call the several conventions.

Mr. Parker's Chances. The announcement of ex-Commissioner M. M. Parker during the week that he would accept of the honor of being a delegate if it was tendered him caused those who have been talking in a friendly way of him as the white delegate to renew their of him as the white delegate to renew their talk in his behalf. While Perry Carson has not "come out" for any one as his colleague on the delegation, it is known that he is favorable to the selection of Mr. Parker. The fact that the Union Republican Club and the republican members of the board of trade are also favorable to his candidacy has caused some of the local leaders to believe that he will be se-local leaders to believe that he will be se-lected as its white delegate.

Present indications point to the selection of three sets of delegates from the Dis-trict. The Union Republican Club has an-nounced that it will select two men of "respectability and worth," and will send them to the convention and have them seated upon the representation that the people here want a change in District pol-litics, and want the affairs handled by such men as they will send to the convention. men as they will send to the convention.

It looks as if the Carson people will send as delegates Carson and Bradshaw, the Union Republican Club will certify to Parker and Daniel Murray, and the Gleeson faction will choose Gleeson and W. H. Smith

The McKinley League. The McKinley people are not at all asleep, and if they don't select delegates they will throw their strength to some one of the other factions, and will compromise by selecting one McKinley delegate. Robert H. Keys, the young colored man whom the McKinley people are backing, is "out hustling," and it looks as if he will be somewhere in some one of the delegations. A delegation of colored men waited on Mr. L. M. Saunders and C. J. Ortlip during last week, and as these two gentlemen are favorable to Mr. McKinley the delegation wanted them to rut was sense. favorable to Mr. McKinley the delegation wanted them to put up some "stuff" for them to go to work on—creating sentiment favorable to the selection of McKinley delegates. It is said that the two gentlemen religiously turned the delegation down and declared that it was too early to begin the fight.

All of the different factions seemed determined to select delegates to the next

All of the different factions seemed determined to select delegates to the next convention, the McKinley people hoping that if McKinley controls the credential committee that they will be seated; the Reed faction trusting that he will be in high favor that they may get inside the breast works, and the Independents believing that neither candidate will be in control of the credential committee and that they will be seated with the hope of having them won over to the side upon which a majority of the credential committee may finally land.

The situation is much complicated and promises to be more so by the time for the selection of delegates, as each faction seems determinde to fight it out to the end.

She Demands Support. Application for maintenance was filed to Mrs. Long states that they wer married here December 31, 1892, and lived together until August 18 last, when he husband, she charges, willfully deserted and abandoned her, after abusing and as saulting her while he was in an intoxicat ed condition. Last spring, she asserts, he husbard assaulted and abused her, throw husbard assaulted and abused her, throwing lemon julce in her eyes. She has, she says, always been a true and loving wife, and since the alleged desertion and abandonment of her, she declares, she has endeavored to induce him to return to her. She says that her husband is a printer, employed at one of the leading establishments here, at a salary of $20 a week. Since the 18th of last month, she charges, he has been spending his earnings on other women and in riotous living. FAVORABLE PROSPECTS.

Good Weather Promised by the Ex-It is altogether likely that the warm weather of summer has entirely passed. There may be a little flurry during the lat ter part of the month, but the usual experience of Washingtonians is that after the excessive heat of September has passed and has been broken by a cool wave there is no return of uncomfortably high temperature until the next season. The cool ways of last week was almost too severe and too sudden. Saturday night the city fairly shivered, and some of the suburban resi dents were decidedly uncomfortable. It be gan to warm up a little yesterday, how ever, and today the temperature was most delightful. The weather bureau put forth an alte gether agreeable map this morning, showing the country to be almost free from dis-turbances, with a general rise of tempera-ture throughout those sections that were visited by the cool snap a few nights ngo. Some of the temperatures reported from New York state and New England yester-day were surprisingly low Ice was formed at several places, the temperature having gone below the freezing point in such a short space of time that in many places crops were injured. Washington did not suffer so severely as this, and the drop in the temperature was not on the whole un-welcome. This morning's predictions were ing the country to be almost free from dis welcome. This morning's predictions were favorable to all kinds of outdoor employment, and the map gives an excellent prospect for a fair, pleasant week. It is apparent that there will be no unusual fall or rise in the temperature, but that the mercury will make a fairly normal September record.

Liquor to Minors. Chas. W. Callahan, who keeps a restau-rant at 1101 C street northeast, was arrested this morning on the charge of selling liquor to minors. The warrant was is sued at the instance of the Anti-saloon League. He is alleged to have furnished liquor to Arthur Murray, a hill boy employed by the Eckington and Soldiers Home Railroad Company. Callahan appeared before the clerk of the Police Court today and demanded a jury trial, giving bonds for his appearance.

H. H. Kelly, who keeps a drug store on M street northwest, was placed under arrest yesterday by Policeman Jack of the third precinct on the charge of selling liquor without a license. He was placed under $1,000 bonds to appear for trial next Thursday.

Proof Thereof.

From the Chicago Tribune. "Here is an item," said Mr. Chugwater, who was looking over his morning paper, "about a man that fell from the thirteenth floor of a skyscraper the other day."
"Did it kill him?" asked Mrs. Chugwater. "Kill him? He never knew what hurt nim."

"I might have known it," rejoined Mrs.
Chugwater, rubbing her nose thoughtfully.
"Thirteen is such an unlucky number!" Where Marriage is a Trial.

From the Indianapolis Journal. "I-I like you, Mr. Lake," the maiden blushingly admitted, "but I hate to leave papa and mamma." "Goodness gracious girl" exclaimed Mr Lake of Chicago, in his breezy way, "haven't they had the pleasure of your com-
